

Mutale Nkonde
Founding CEO of AI For the People (AFP)
UN Advisor on Race and AI

Mutale Nkonde is the founding CEO of AI For the People (AFP) a non-profit communications agency. AFP's mission is to eliminate the under-representation of black professionals in the technology sector by 2030. AFP works at the intersection of racial justice and tech and is currently working on a disinformation project with Moveon.org. She is a member of the Tik Tok Content Moderation Advisory Board, a UN Advisor on Race and AI and in the process of writing her first book named Automated Anti Blackness, Why We Need to Name Race to Create Just Technological Futures, as Faculty Fellow at the Notre Dame Institute of Advanced Study