Celebration of the 15th Anniversary of 47 USC § 230
March 4, 2011

Celebration of the 15th Anniversary of 47 USC § 230 March 4, 2011

47 USC § 230 is widely regarded as the most important Internet-specific law. This symposium will celebrate the 15-year anniversary of Congress' enactment of § 230 and will bring together some of the key historical figures involved in its development. The symposium also will discuss some of the latest cutting-edge research about § 230 issues. This event should be the largest gathering of § 230 practitioners and scholars to date!

Speakers include:

- Former Rep. Chris Cox, Bingham McCutchen
- Ken Zeran, plaintiff in Zeran v. AOL
- Jerry Berman, Center for Democracy and Technology

and many more

Co-sponsors:

Harvard Law School's Berkman Center for Internet and Society
Stanford Law School's Law, Science & Technology program
Berkeley Center for Law & Technology

Exhaustion and First Sale in IP Law

November 5, 2010

The Mission Room • Benson Center • Santa Clara Law

Manufacturers often desire to control downstream resales of their products, but their ability to do so may be restricted by the First Sale/Exhaustion doctrines. These doctrines have sparked a great deal of IP litigation between manufacturers and resellers, including a pending copyright case in the US Supreme Court (Costco v. Omega), two recent patent-related US Supreme Court decisions (Quanta v. LG Electronics and Leegin v. PSKS) and several recent trademark lawsuits that challenge product resales on eBay. At this symposium, an impressive roster of legal academics, lawyers and economists will take a comprehensive look at all facets of the First Sale and Exhaustion doctrines in IP, as well as related antitrust and contracts considerations.
